Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who emits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quatter sections of those lands; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

Please to apply at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown.

IN THIS DARK VALE OF SORROW.

In this dark vale of sorrow when hope has deceived, [lieved.
And we sigh o'er the tale we too fondly be-
How often does memory her pleasures impart,
And shed a bright halo to solace the heart.

Even now to my view a sweet vision appears;
I catch the illusion, and joy e'en to tears—
The pleasures of memory float on my sight,
And the scenes of my boyhood are lovely and bright.

I recall the sweet hours when I languished to rove, [love;
With the beautiful daughters of friendship and
I behold the fair maids like the twins of the roe, [soms of snow.
With their bright beaming eyes and their bo-

To tell me the hopes of my boyhood are dead!
Yet oft will it shine through the vista of years,
To warm this cold bosom and brighten my fears.

LITERARY.

According to the latest accounts from the literary circles abroad, it appears, that Professor Leslie, whom it was expected would succeed the illustrious Playfair, in the chair of Natural Philosophy in the University of Edinburgh, will, in all probability, fail of that object; the celebrated Chalmers, of the Tron Church, Glascow, having offered himself as a candidate to the town council for that station. Mr Chalmers is perhaps not less remarkable for his acquirements as a mathematician and natural philosopher than as a preacher.

A new volume of Travels through the United States and Canada, by one Palmer, has just appeared at London. Fearon's work has reached the fourth edition.

Seybert's Statistical Annals of the United States are advertised by Longman & Co. London. Price 3l. 13s 6d sterling.

The last volume of the Swedish Philosophical Journal, just published in the Swedish language, contains an ample annalysis of the transactions of the Literary and Philosophical Society of New-York. Professor Picket, of Geneva, has also given a translation, in the French language, of the principal papers in the same transactions.

A correspondent informs us, that HUNT, on his way from Lancaster jail, met a clergyman mounted on a handsome horse, when the following short dialogue ensued between them:

Hunt.—So! you're a parson, are you, with that fine horse? It would better become you to imitate the humility of our Lord and Master, and ride on a Jack Ass.

Clergyman.—That would be rather difficult now-a-days; for there is not a Jack Ass in the kingdom, that is not already hired as a Radical Reformer. [London paper.

SCANDALOUS DESERTION.

The success of the Seneca Indians, who lately exhibited themselves in this country, induced a citizen of the state of Georgia, named David Jones, to try to engage some Indians to accompany him to England, for a like purpose. After considerable difficulty, and much persuasion, he prevailed upon six Indians of the Cherokee nation, living near Fort Armstrong, to accompany him; promising them that if they did not succeed here, they should have a free passage home again. They embarked at Charleston, and after a voyage of twenty-five days, arrived at this port. Here they performed two evenings. They then went to St. Helen's, where they performed on the evenings of Friday and Saturday. On the Sunday morning their conductor left them, directing them to proceed to Wigan, and promising to meet them there. After performing at Wigan a week, they received a letter from Jones, in which he desired them to proceed to Warrington, saying he would rejoin them at that place. They accordingly went to Warrington; but he did not fulfil his promise. The poor fellows, after stopping there till they had spent all their money, resolved to return to Liverpool to enquire what had become of their employer.—When they arrived here, they found him just on the point of embarking for America. He had sailed, and basely abandoned these unfortunate men to a state of destitution in a strange country, far from their families and their native land.

Of such conduct we cannot speak in terms of adequate detestation. Our object in thus minutely narrating the circumstances in this case is, to promote a subscription to enable the unhappy sufferers to return to their homes. The Indians may be seen at their lodgings in Liver-street. [London paper.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 18.

EXTRAORDINARY LOAD OF FLOUR.

We were gratified on Thursday last with a sight both novel and pleasing—it was the arrival of a wagon from the neighborhood of Winchester, drawn by six horses with the extraordinary quantity of forty barrels of flour on it. This team belonged to Mr. R. W. Hamilton, of Frederick county, and travelled the distance in the usual time, without any apparent difficulty to the horses.—It was unloaded at the store of Messrs. Gibson & Lupton, on King-street.

From the Annapolis Gazette, October 14.

THE ELECTION.

The annual election for members of the House of Delegates of Maryland commenced and terminated throughout the state on Monday the 4th inst. The result has been so favorable to the democratic party, as to give them a majority of four votes upon joint ballot, with the senate, in the election of governor and council, and such other officers as are appointed by a joint vote of the two houses. The democrats appear to be much elated at this temporary triumph; but we do no perceive that it can afford them much cause for boasting—Some local feuds pervaded several of the counties whose political character is decidedly federal, and to this cause principally, is to be ascribed the unexpected result of the late election. But notwithstanding the schism in some portion of the federal party, the democrats have obtained the ascendancy by such slight majorities in many of the counties, as to render their future success more than doubtful. In Cecil county the average democratic majority was about 20, and one federalist was left out by only 7 votes. In Kent 2 federalists were elected, one vote would have elected another, and 14 the fourth. In Caroline the democratic ticket succeeded by only 11 votes; and in Worcester by 9 votes. On the western shore the democratic gain was altogether unexpected, and such an occurrence is not again anticipated even by themselves. The senate is composed of 15 members all of whom are federalists, and who will constitute a safe and inviolable rampart against the wild and visionary innovations of our modern democratic reformists.

The late election in Vermont has terminated in the re-election of Governor Galusha, Lieutenant Governor Arringham, and a republican council.

GENERAL JACKSON.

Our correspondent at Nashville, (Ten.) informs us that General Jackson has been, for some time, dangerously ill. Doubts are entertained of his recovery. We also learn through the same channel, that a work, vindicating the measures of the general government relative to the Semicole war, will shortly be issued from the press in that place.

WASHINGTON ORPHAN ASYLUM.

The fourth annual meeting of the Washington Orphan Asylum Society was held at the Rev. Dr. Laurie's Church, on the 12th October, 1819. After an introductory prayer by the Rev. Mr Hawley, the report of the Society was read by Mr. E. B. Caldwell. new subscribers obtained, money received, and the orphans examined.

The following election of officers being then made, the proceedings closed by a very appropriate address and prayer, from Mr. E. B. Caldwell:—

Mrs. McGowan, Treasurer.

QUICK WORK.

A few days since, Mr. Barker moulded 1538 bricks in the yard of A. & T. Hall, in this town in the short space of sixty minutes! A young man by the name of Tildon, received them in the moulds and lodged them in the yard to dry, in the same space of time.

We understand that the sailing of the U. S. frigate Constellation is stopped in consequence of the return of the John Adams.—The death of Commodore Perry has occasioned a derangement in his late cruising squadron—and the probability is, that the non-ratification of the Spanish Treaty, will produce new and more active navy operations. Kingston, (U. C.) Oct. 5.

Last Sunday morning, (Oct. 31,) three steam boats left the port of Kingston, within a few minutes of each other. The Frontenac, for York and Niagara; the Charlotte, for the Bay of Quinte; and the Sophia, for Sacket's Harbor. The preceding day, we understand, the steam boats Ontario and Sophia left Sacket's Harbor together; one of them for Ogdensburg, and the other for Kingston. [Herald.

New-Bedford, (Mass.) Oct. 1.

Three young fellows, the eldest about 21 years of age, were apprehended on Monday last, charged with entering the first congregational meeting-house in this town on the preceding evening; and tearing the large pulpit bible in pieces, and also several hymn books, and the testaments and other books belonging to the children who attended the Sunday school. They also took all the lamps from their sockets and emptied the oil on the cushions and seats of the pews; then took the leaves which they had taken from the bible and scattered them in the street.

Two of the same fellows were also charged with breaking open the store of Messrs. James Hathaway & Co. and robbing it of articles of no great value. A handkerchief which a lady had left in her pew being found on one, and a box of Spanish segars on another, led to their detection. On their examination, one of them confessed all the facts, and they have been committed to Taunton jail.

EXHIBITION WEEK.

The week which is passing has been exceedingly warm and fine, and has been well improved in Agricultural and Military Exhibitions;—presenting equal degrees of splendor and improvement in the arts to sustain and destroy life.

The Worcester display of the former on Wednesday, we learn, abounded in fat and prolific things, and agricultural science; and from the preparations made, we expect that Berkshire (the high place of Agricultural Societies) will add to a celebrity already established.

Petersburgh, Oct. 12.

FROST.

Yesterday morning fell the first frost this season, and it was a pretty heavy one. For about three weeks previous, the weather had been disagreeably warm—The mercury ranged generally at about 80 degrees—on Saturday we had a considerable fall of rain, and on Sunday it was 15 degrees cooler—On Monday at sun-rise the mercury pointed to 55 degrees—a difference of 25 degrees in 48 hours.

It is apprehended, from the late planting this year, that tobacco in many parts of the country, has sustained injury from the frost.

SURVEY OF BOUNDARY LINE IN LAKE ERIE.

Buffaloe, (N. York) Oct 10.

A truly distressing time the parties appear to have had, who have been employed, for the last two months, in the survey of the islands of Lake Erie. Of thirty-three persons, consisting of commissioners, secretaries, surveyors, chain bearers, and boat and axemen, every individual has suffered a serious time of illness, and that too in a place where no medical aid could be procured. We are happy to learn, however, that the survey of the islands to the mouth of Detroit river has been completed, notwithstanding these accumulated difficulties; though, from the continuance of the sickness, and in consequence of the death of Col. Ogilvy, the surviving commissioner, Gen. Porter has been under the necessity of suspending the further prosecution of the work for the present season. Mr. Thompson, the astronomical surveyor of the British commissioners, has returned, with all his party, who are now on their way to Montreal. Mr. T. himself, one of the other surveyors, and all his laborers, except one, sick. Major Fraser, secretary, and Mr. de Russy, draughtsman to the American party, are sick at Black Rock—both, however, we understand, convalescent. Gen. Porter, with the residue of the American party, of which only two laborers are said to remain fit for duty, are daily expected.

From the New-York Daily Adv.

"REVOLUTIONS NEVER GO BACKWARD."

Such has been the sentiment, or doctrine, among politicians for so great a length of time, that it has become a settled maxim among them. How far the events of the last half century may go to establish its truth, it is not necessary now to enquire. Some revolutions have gone forward, and some backward, and some both forward and backward, and some have hardly moved at all—and it is not our intention to attempt to balance the account. All the world, except England, seem to have become wearied out with revolutions, and are apparently willing to settle down in quiet, for the purpose of enjoying what little good there may be mingled with the evil in this naughty world, and let revolutionists and reformers sigh over their visionary schemes of human perfectability. In England, however, the case seems to be different. There the weavers, and the spinners, and the tinkers, appear to be very desirous of lending a hand, either to mend up the old machine of government, or, if that is past hope, to make a new one. Until lately, this hopeful business has been carried on exclusively by the men, who, as the lords of the creation, have hitherto claimed it as one of the "Rights of Man," to do all the political mischief in the world. The tide, however, seems to have recently changed in that ill-fated country, and, having withstood the fiery and sanguinary spirits among male reformers for a long succession of years, the goodly work is about to pass into the hands of the softer sex, the fairest part of the creation.—At Manchester, which has lately been the theatre of many political movements, there has been formed a—"Female Reforming Society," which appears to have made a conspicuous figure in the late revolutionary meetings. Who is at the head of the association we do not know; but a Mistress Susanna Saxton is its Secretary. This good lady, doubtless deeply impressed with the idea, that, as the first revolution that ever occurred in human affairs—we can hardly consider it as a more political one though a caucus seems to have been held by Eve and the Old Serpent—was brought to pass by one of her sex, it is proper that the trade should go back to the same hands. In this view of the subject, she is desirous of exerting female influence and agency in the same sort of business, and for that purpose, she has addressed a long letter to "the wives, mothers and sisters" round about her, whom she calls "Dear Sisters of the Earth." After a lively and deeply colored picture of the public calamities and dangers, arising from what she calls "the lazy boroughmongering eagles of destruction," she boldly says—"We call upon you therefore to join us with heart and hand to exterminate tyranny from the face of our native country." This experiment in the hands of the ladies, is as new as it is interesting.—"Petticoat government," despotic as it may have been in individual cases, has rarely been established over nations. Queen Elizabeth exercised it, it is true, but she was always considered more like a man than a woman. Besides, she governed men under a constitution which men made for their own use and benefit, and she was therefore a kind of usurper in her place. But here there is to be a petticoat constitution—a species that all the prolific manufacturers of such instruments in France, during the revolutionary period, never once thought of putting up. And if this reforming Dame is to be believed, she will succeed; for she says—"as well might they attempt to arrest the sun in the region of space, or stop the diurnal motion of the earth, as to impede the rapid progress of the enlightened friends to liberty and truth."

The case on the part of the old system having thus become hopeless, and as it has always been found difficult for men to contend seriously with women, we advise the ministry and the boroughmongers to give way, and let the Spinsters take the business in hand. What the peculiar features of the new constitution shall be, we pretend not to conjecture. Probably one provision of it will be, that the girls shall in future go a-courting, and the lads stay at home and be wooed; & we should not be surprised if the old fashioned mode of travelling on saddles and pillions should be revived, and the poor man be forced to ride behind.

Whatever it may be, it will be something laughable, that these modern Eves should produce a revolution in a country, that has so long withstood the exertions and machinations of so many Burdetts, Hunts, Cartwrights, and Ruta Baga merchants.

Extract of a letter from an officer on board the Revenue Cutter Alabama, in the Mississippi, dated 13th September, 1819, received in New-York.

On the 31st of August we discovered three strange vessels a-head; the wind being very light, we immediately set all our sails and wet them, we got our sweeps and made every exertion to come up with them; at 2 P. M. Captain Loomis fired a shot a-head of the nearest, and made a signal for us to board her; we did so, and found her full of people, who had been robbed of every thing by the pirates, and when we hove in sight had put them on board this vessel—we left him, and pulled away hard on our sweeps, to come up with the other vessels. The pirates bore down for us: at half past 2 he hoisted the Patriot flag, and immediately poured into Capt. Loomis's vessel a volley of musketry, which was promply returned, and with interest. This continued for a few minutes, when we brought our large guns to bear upon him, and gave him a broadside, this made them all run below, we immediately boarded him at the same time in the boat of both cutters; we found on board of him a crew of 18 men, besides officers, and 12 prisoners, most of the latter were blacks; we found two men who had been killed in the action. She was called the Brave. Mr. Jordan, the first officer of our Cutter, took possession of the other vessel, which proved to be a prize to the pirates; she was a Spanish schooner, laden with flour, and when she was taken had on board a number of passengers, both gentlemen and ladies, who were treated by the pirates in the most shameful manner; they were robbed of every thing, even to the clothes on their backs, and when the ladies ventured to beg for something to cover them, the pirates drew their swords on them, using the most brutal language. I was told, that one beautiful girl, about sixteen years of age, had a gold thimble, which had been the gift of her mother, who has been sometime dead; upon this the girl put a particular value, as being the memorial of her deceased parent; when this was taken from her she begged in the most earnest and pathetic manner to have it restored to her, telling them, at the same time, that in itself it was of very little value, but to her as being the present of her mother it was of great value: this made not the least impression on these lawless ruffians.

The London Statesman of the evening of the 7th ult received at the office of the New-York Gazette, contains the following:—

PROBABLE WAR BETWEEN SPAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

There appears to be a gradual, and what we deem highly probable, approach to a war between the above two Powers. Should the misunderstanding come to an absolute rupture, it is not to certain that without the intervention of other Powers it could not last long. An old, decripid, worn-out and vicious Government, attenuated by luxury and idleness, could stand up for a moment only against a young, a vigorous, a temperate State, which seems to want nothing to make it flourish universally, but a sufficient quantity of the PRECIOUS METALS as a circulating medium, to quadrate with its surprisingly rapid increase of trade and commerce; and that we predict they will not be long without, if they come to blows with Old Spain; for, as such a warfare cannot but be highly promising to the South American Patriots, they will not fail to assist and second the views of their neighbors and Allies in every way possible. The sharing the produce of the mines of MEXICO and PERU, will give to the New and United States of America all that rational men in a state of polished society can wish for. Our readers must have learnt that the Hornet sloop of war waited more than a month at Cadiz, almost expressly (not having half a cargo) for the purpose of carrying back the ratification of the Treaty ceding the Floridas to the United States. The Sloop returned without it, and arrived at New York the 30th of July. It is now almost a certainty that the Beloved Ferdinand has set his face against the treaty; he must therefore expect some very extraordinary countenance from one or more of the Courts of Europe, or his Majesty and his whole Council will be suspected not merely of fanaticism, but of downright insanity. The Floridas are already in the hands of the Americans! What force and what time, with any force, will the dispossessing them of their prize take!

From Poulson's American Daily Advertiser.

A young merchant, whom we shall call Morton, was united a few years since to a most amiable girl whom he sincerely loved, and who returned his affection with all the warmth and ardor his many virtues deserved. At the time of their nuptials, Mr. M's. business was lucrative and apparently increasing, so that he could indulge in reasonable anticipation, not only of eventual independence, but also of attaining that desirable end without denying himself and family the fashionable gratifications of the day. Accordingly, he furnished his house in a style of considerable elegance, kept several servants, and in other respects conducted his family arrangements on a liberal scale, in which his forefathers would perhaps have deemed him extravagant. His wife too, thinking to do credit to her husband, paid little attention to economy, and rather made it a study to gratify his taste, than to regard the expense it might occasion.

There was a time when such a general prosperity pervaded this country, that prudence herself seemed almost to justify extravagance. But these times had gone by, and on those countenances where formerly beamed hope and confidence, now sat disappointment and despair. No longer could the merchant engage in schemes of enterprise; for he saw that the more extensive was his business, the more extensive were his losses. No longer could he place reliance upon the stability of his neighbors; for experience was daily teaching in painful lessons, that the foundations of credit were loosened; and those who had withstood many a storm, now bent and yielded to the calamities of the times.

But still the storm howled only without the dwelling of domestic peace—it had not yet wounded the merchant in his tenderest concerns. Soon, however, Mrs. M. saw the gloom that misfortune was gathering on her husband's brow, and which neither her own affectionate solicitude, nor his children's sportive playfulness, could chase away. Day after day passed, and she sighed in silence. At length she extorted from him the cause of his dejection, and learned that his business had declined, and that he had sustained multiplied losses which had deprived him of nearly all his earnings. There are woman, and those whom the world calls women of sense too, who would have contented themselves with sympathising with their husbands, and supposed that by affectionately sharing his regrets, they had discharged their duty. Not such a woman was Mrs. M. She felt deeply her husband's misfortunes; but that feeling was an active principle, which prompted her to do what was in her power to assist and relieve him. She immediately commenced a rigid system of reform—retained only a single servant—her table was not as before loaded with luxuries, and the wine was banished from the sideboard. Her two little children were neatly but simply dressed, and she gazed upon them with more heartfelt delight, than when covered with ribbands and expensive, useless finery.—She applied herself to domestic avocations with unabating diligence, and carried economy into every part of her household.

All this was not done, however, without the opposition, and in some instances, the sneers of her acquaintances; but happily the suggestions of pride and indolence fell harmless on the ears of Mrs. M. for she weighed them against her duty to her husband and her affection for her children, and the scale mounted in the air. Her husband, at the time, although perhaps, he would perish rather than have prescribed such a conduct, saw her thus employed with new delight springing in his heart—and in his approbation, she found at once a reward for past exertion, and an additional incitement for new. From the much decreased expenses of his family he was encouraged still to struggle against misfortunes, and his business soon began slowly to revive, and although he cannot as before anticipate speedy wealth, yet from the prudent care of his wife, and his own industry and application, brighter prospects are daily opening to his view. To his partner he is now attached by a new and tender tie of affection, for he has seen that she can share and alleviate the distresses of adversity, as well as adorn and dignify the prosperous station. Happy M. who has such a wife, and thrice happy and lovely the woman who can thus act!—From her example, may every American fair, learn in what course of conduct lies the true dignity of the female character. May they learn that they were intended by Providence, not merely to float on the surface of pleasure flutter like butterflies in the sun, but to be the sweet soothers and consolers of man, when misfortune clouds his prospect, and presses heavily upon his spirits.

A. M. J.

Died,

In Para, South America, on the 3d of September last, of a consumption, Mr JOHN KETTELL, formerly a merchant of this place, aged 30 years. This young man, swept away in the prime of life, has left many friends in Alexandria, whose long experience of his merit causes them deeply to feel the privation this dispensation of Divine Providence has inflicted. His friendships were warm and constant, and he was ever ready to impart to the relief of suffering humanity. His mercantile pursuits, though unpropitious, were marked by the most persevering industry and unshaken integrity. In the disappointment of worldly acquirements, & in loss of health, he was caused to look for an inheritance beyond the skies, and for health immortal; his resignation while laboring beneath the pressure of disease, and his peaceful departure are earnests that "God had not forgotten to be gracious," and while we indulge the conviction that he is at rest in Heaven, we cannot mourn for him, but rather our want of preparation to follow.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS the Common Council of Alexandria have passed an order on the 14th day of the present month, approving of an order of the Board of Health, recommending the discontinuance of the quarantine regulations for this port.—Notice is hereby given, that the quarantine laws are no longer in force.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the Corporation of Alexandria, this 15th day of October, 1819.

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC,

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity, a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In a republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case; and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other, he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly; had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley. Washington,
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria,
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria,
Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
